

Real8D-AI.Audio opens crowdfunding campaign

What is crowdfunding?

Crowdfunding is a collective financing network that more and more platforms offer. The objective is to help finance projects by collecting financial donations, which can be made by any user who wants to collaborate on the project.

The platforms on which the initiatives are exhibited give the creators a limited time to raise the necessary money.

Any individual who wishes can contribute capital to the projects and, in the case of reward crowdfunding, will receive a special product or service for having supported the initiative. Rewards can be both physical and symbolic.

For their part, donations can be:

- Honorary Donations: correspond to users who make contributions and do not expect benefits in return; they do so altruistically.
- Donations with rewards: Users who contribute and receive attractive physical rewards for their contribution.
- Intellectual Contributions: users offer hours of work, professional contributions, translations, and services that can contribute to the development of the project.

Indiegogo: Our campaign platform

There are many types of crowdfunding platforms on the market. For a project, it is vital to choose the one that is most related to its objectives and needs, and that also has the respect and sympathy of the patrons (donors).

We selected Indiegogo, one of the most prestigious and successful platforms on the market. It is of North American origin and has a global audience. It is the leading crowdfunding platform for technology products and the only full-lifecycle platform for projects.

One of its great strengths is the expert support and exclusive partnerships to drive the campaign, and it also provides pre- and post-campaign tools to take the project beyond crowdfunding.

For the “Indiegogo” platform to have agreed to publish the “Real8D-AI.Audio prototype” project, it has been necessary to meet various requirements such as patent registration, designs, and description of the prototype.

Our Campaign

We are sure that it is worth starting the adventure, and that is why we have established very attractive proposals so that together we can make Real8D – AI.Audio a reality. Our collaborators will be the first to receive and test the prototype.
